BUDING SAYS
STATES PLUNGE
AS U.S. CUT TAX

Plans to Economy and Offers More.

By GRAFTON WILCOX.

Lake City, Utah, June 24.—President Harding made an appearance tonight for the American public endorsement of his record in reduction of federal expenditures.

The President answered complaints of federal taxation by challenging states to show as good a record for economy as the government at Washington has made in the last three years.

He spoke briefly with figures delivered in the world famous debate which was crowded with a big overflow crowd, seating every word by reason of the simplifying instruments which set up in the hall.

The President and his party arrived this morning at Ogden and made their way to the station, being given a very general reception on route.

King Quits Court Now.

In outstanding development of the case was a decision by Senator [Dana, Utah] that the President's speech had killed the court's power as the Democratic concern.

"The President," said Senator King, "is not the world court as far as the Democrats are to be considered."

Democrats will support the President in his address tonight and still further economies in government operation. The direct intention for dealing with government taxation and expenditures here is Senator Reed Smoot [Rep., Utah] and the President at Ogden. In Senate Mr. Smoot is known as a man for facts and figures.

Points to High Local Tax.

By the way of proving to the country that his administration had accomplished a great saving in fulfillment of his 1920 campaign pledge for less business in government, the President pointed an accusing finger at state, county, and municipal budgets.

He sought to convince the people that while the federal government had appropriated billions of the national tax, local governments still were investing in extravagances begun in the days of the world war. His answer to the complaint of the taxpayer was that he should look to the statehouse, county building, and the city hall for relief.

The President revealed that in 1917 the representative states, local and county, constituted 72 per cent of the tax burden, while in the war spending days of 1918 and 1919 they represented only 55 and 56 per cent. In 1922 they had climbed back to 60 per cent and more recent figures showed a steady ascent.

U. S. Cuts States Plunge.

President also undertook to prove that while the federal government under his administration cut $4,000,000,000 off the national, state, county, and municipal governments were plunging deeper and deeper into debt. Independence was held, increased from $423,000,000 in 1912 to $1,021,000,000 in 1922. On 227 large cities showed an increase in debt of 48 per cent, the aggregate for them in 1921 having been $314,000,000.

The figures of both the treasury and the census bureau said the President "make it perfectly plain that the cost of the federal government is being steadily reduced by the state and local governments as steadily increased year by year despite of the enormous burdens for paying for the war and paying on the war debt, state and local taxes in 1922 represented 60 per cent of all taxes paid."

The President paid a tribute to Secretary Mellon for his part in keeping deficits within income. He praised the new budget system and expressed hope that the nation had gone so far without adopting it. He compared the national taxation of the American citizen with that of the citizens of Canada, Germany, France and Great Britain to show that the Americans pay taxes relatively small.

Income Tax Lowest Here.

A married man with two children in the country, said the President, paid an income of $5,000, whereas the income of similar income paid $15,000 in Germany, $20,000 in France and the Briton $20,75. Figures of the treasury department mentioned by the President showed that, while

"ANTI-LIE" DRUG CONVICTS, FREES

Prisoners Put Under Novel Tests.

San Quentin, Cal., June 26.—[By the Associated Press.]—Scopalamine, an alkaloid used in experiments on three inmates of San Quentin prison here today, as a result of which John E. Farrar, convicted of the murder of a Chinese in Sacramento, was adjudged innocent; Eugene O'Leary, a former service man sentenced from Sacramento on a grand larceny charge, proved his identity; and John L. Johnson, Negro, admitted his guilt and confessed to participation in other crimes, according to the experimenters. Dr. E. House of Ferris, Tex., conducted the experiments before several prison officials and criminal investigators.

Dr. House declared the scopolamine made the subjects incapable of mental inhibition and deprived them of reasoning power so that they were incapable of lying while under its influence. Other facilities, however, remained intact, he said.

Involves an Accomplice.

Farrar, while under the influence of the drug, confessed that he took part in the attempted robbery of a Chinese merchant in Sacramento, during which the Chinese was killed.

Farrar was convicted of the man's murder, but, according to his story, told while under the drug's influence, the fatal hit was fired by Roy Carver, an accomplice in the attempted robbery.

Much mystery had surrounded O'Leary's case. His court testimony and war department records disagreed. In the course of the testimony he is said to have supplied discrepancies. These discrepancies were straightened out when he was under the influence of the drug.

Drugs Acquire This One.

Berkeley, Cal., June 26.—Henry Wilkens of San Francisco, who was acquitted of the murder of his wife, Mrs. Anne Wilkens, last March, was again acquitted of the charge at the Temple hospital last night after he had submitted voluntarily to the scopolamine test, according to experimenters. He was kept under the drug's influence for four hours and stuck to the same story he told on the witness stand.

SAVORY, COMEDIAN, AND FRIEND ARE KILLED BY BOLT

Error Involves Man as He Goes to Pay Taxes.

Felix Politowics, like a good citizen, went to the county building with $50 in his pockets to pay his taxes. He became entangled in an imbroglio which took him two months to straighten out, and led him through an arrest on a warrant charging that he was insane, and incarceration in three insane institutions, all because he had the surname of an insane man.

Yesterday he presented his case before Judge Joseph B. David, who ordered him freed.

"It is incredible that such a thing could have happened in this age," Judge David exclaimed. "How astounding it must appear to this man who, coming in to pay his taxes, found himself involved in this shambolic carriage of justice."

Thought Taxes High.

Politowics, a mild mannered little man, who lives alone in his cottage at 4954 Montana street, testified in a habeas corpus suit, instituted by his brother-in-law, Erwin Glenn, to obtain Politowics' release, that he had thought he was a good man. Alls.

I Inquired from some one what I should do," he said, "and was told to go to the County court. There I went, and told the man my name was Politowics. He seized me, said he had a warrant for my arrest, and, with two policemen, took me to the psychopathic hospital.

Choked with Towel.

They undressed me there, and choiced me with a towel. My $50 disappeared and then I was sent to the Elgin hospital under the name of John Politowics. I stayed there a month, protesting I was the wrong man, and was transferred to Dunning. Finally my brother-in-law found me there, this time under another name, Joseph Wissmeyer, and brought me here."

Judge David ordered him released when he held him without proper warrants. John Politowics, the real insane man, is now in Elgin, witness said.

Corroborated by Brother.

Joseph's story was similar. He said he carried Johnnie out to the kitchen table and washed the blood off the wound over the left eye. Then when the people came in he jumped out of the window and found the revolver. It was he who gave it to the police, he said.

It seems absolutely certain the father did it, but why?" Capt. Falcy.

Sergeant Louis Phankuch and Thomas Etchingham at 4:30 p. m. that he was telling the truth. In ten minutes Capt. Falcy came through the window.

I tried to pull Johnnie out of the way, but the man fired too quick. He had a red handkerchief over his face.

"I called Joe. He was in the kitchen. He came in and cried. So did I. Then people came in and my paper came home."

Corporation of Brother.

Joseph's story was similar. He said he carried Johnnie out to the kitchen table and washed the blood off the wound over the left eye. Then when the people came in he jumped out of the window and found the revolver. It was he who gave it to the police, he said.

He Finally Confesses.

Joseph did. He found the revolver Monday as he returned from the Elgin golf club. He put it under the pillow on which both he and Frank had rested all night. Yesterday morning Joseph was playing with the revolver when it was discharged, the bullet striking John in the head.

Joseph told of asking Frank not to tell that he was afraid his father would whip him. Frank agreed, he said, and kept his promise as long as he could, Capt. Falcy finished.

The two boys were held for the juvenile authorities while the father was permitted to go home.

Desperado Twice Shot His Way to Freedom.

Detroit, Mich., June 24.—[Special]
A six weeks man hunt through two states ended tonight when two police officers and detectives armed with rifles guns captured John L. White, the desperado wanted in Cleveland and for the murder of Patrolman Dennis Griffin, who had been killed while on duty. He was shot his way to freedom after a long flight, was found working in a Michigan Avenue lumber yard in this city.
He gave up tonight when a revolver was jammed against his head and he was warned that at the slightest move he would be riddled with bullets. He was being held pending removal to Cleveland, which city was removed to fever heat by the locality of the murder, which was cleared.

Whitehead was traced here from Madison, Wis., through Chicago, by Detective Lieutenant Charles O. Nevel of the Cleveland police.

Found at Lumber Plant.

Nevel learned that his quarry had been working for several weeks as a woman of leisure in the lumber plant. When he had completed his investigations Nevel informed Detroit that the fugitive was here. A heavily armed squadron of officers had entirely surrounded the plant of Torous Coal and Lumber company.
When all was ready, Nevel and several policemen in plain clothes accosted Whitehead. The fugitive appeared alarmed and started for an office nearby. Nevel shoved a gun against his head and ordered him to stand up.
He was handcuffed and under heavy guard as he was taken to headquarters.

GET HIM DEAD OR ALIVE.

Patrolman Dennis Griffin disappeared in Cleveland May 9, and on May 14 the charred remains of his body were found between the ashes of two bonfires near Chagrin Falls,
Cleveland suburb.

He was "dead or alive" was the motto that was almost immediately to Cleveland police for the carrier of John Leonard Whitehead, a man accused of the slaying.

Whitehead was a man in a restaurant in company of a Fort Wayne, Ind., woman, but was being taken to the station after a revolver battle in which it was believed he was wounded.

Griffin had arrested Whitehead as a suspected bootlegger. It was known that the policeman had taken his prisoner to his automobile and started it at a police station with him, but the last seen of the officer until he was found.

Albert J. Moore, head of the Lawrenceburg, Ind., police force, was granted a new trial by the Appellate court which decided yesterday that prejudicial evidence had been admitted during the trial on charges of conspiring to run confidence game. They had been convicted in the Municipal court and were sentenced to sixty days in the county jail and Adams to three years.

Mrs. Hattie Cartwright, wife of Judah Cartwright, one of the Illinois Supreme Court justices, was granted a new trial yesterday. A witness during the trial had said he had been a "trustee" of the Institute and had paid Moore $1,000.
Evidence that Moore had supervision was held to be irrelevant.

U. S. MAPS WORLD ROUTE

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special] Secretary Weeks today authorized the army air service to select two officers to survey a possible route for an airplane flight around the world.
Announcement of this action by the secretary follows publication of details of the plans for a world flight by British aviators.

The officers, who will be selected immediately, will make a study of the Alaskan coast, Aleutian Islands, Kamchatka, Japan, the coast of China, Australia and, finally, to survey the route for followed by British aviators on their flight from England to Australia.

The route to be investigated had already been discussed tentatively by air service officials, who have been interesting themselves for some time in the possibilities of a round-the-world flight. Generally, it is the route recommended by the National Geographic Society, which has been followed by Capt. G. H. Macmillan and Capt. Norman MacMillan, except that their proposed flight is to go eastward, whereas the plans discussed by American officials have contemplated a flight to the west.

BRITISH LABOR TURNS ITS BACK ON COMMUNISTS

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
LONDON, June 24.—The communist party, which had applied for affiliation with the Labor party, was turned down by a vote of 2,850,000 to 366,000 at the annual Labor party conference in London today.

Frank Hodges, the miners' leader, supporting the executive recommendations to turn down the application, said:
"We and the communists are based on a constitution directly opposed to that of the Labor party, and it would be wrong for those who believed in political democracy to allow an affiliation with those who declared political democracy was not all.

Sidney Webb, chairman, advocated a war debt redemption levy on all fortunes exceeding $5,000 ($22,000), to be graduated in proportion to the amount due, and plainly stated that labor must have its share, and that Great Britain would go no further than its policy of aggression, but that it would favor forgoing a general settlement and would advocate waiving all claims and wiping out all intergovernmental war debts.

A freak explosion attributed to the instant heat but having much the same effect as if a dynamite charge had been touched off, destroyed a section of the newly constructed state highway east of Morris, Ill., yesterday.
Herbert Sparr of Morris narrowly escaped being struck by the huge pieces of concrete and debris which were buried high in the earth. At one point a hole three feet wide was blown in the concrete. At a number of other points there were upheavals of the paving such as often follow an earth quake.

Persuading his aged uncle to con-income of $4,000, Dr. Edmund Jacobson, a physician with offices at 30 North Michigan avenue, repudiated the trust and left his inheritance to his nephew and dependent on charity, according to a bill filed in behalf of the uncle, Bennett Jacobson, in the Superior court yesterday. The bill seeks to void the conveyance and asks that a receiver be appointed to conserve the property for the use of Bennett Jacobson, who is 90 years old.

HOW WAS MYSTERY BULLET FIRED?

This photograph shows the relation of the porch to the path fourteen feet away, where a man 5 feet tall could stand and fire a shot whose effects would be like the ones found on Mrs. Lawrence.

Analysis of Mystery Shot

BY SELBY MAXWELL.
Last Saturday night, at 11:35, Mrs. Mary Lawrence, 3412 North Harlem avenue, was shot and killed as she sat on her front porch. Her daughter found her dead in her chair, with a bullet through her temple.

The shot was a clean one. It was not spent or ricochetting bullet that killed her, but a soft nosed revolver shot, apparently well aimed.

The night was bright, with a half moon low in the southwest. The Lawrence home is in the southeast, and Mrs. Lawrence was sitting toward the northeast side on the porch.

Who shot Mrs. Lawrence? This question may perhaps be answered by knowing where the murderer stood when he fired the fatal shot.

As she sat on the porch, Mrs. Lawrence's head was six feet from the ground. The bullet hit the chair, went through it and came out the other, killing her instantly, so that she simply sank in death. The coroner's physician finds that the bullet hole on the entering side is half an inch lower than it is on the emerging side. If she was awake and holding her head in the normal posture when shot the bullet must have ranged upward at an inclination of one inch per foot.

An upward range of one inch per foot indicates that the slayer was close by when he killed her. He could not have been so much as seventy-two feet away, for at this distance his gun would have had to be squarely on the ground.

A six foot man, holding a pistol six feet from Mrs. Lawrence's head, could have inflicted the wound. A man five feet six inches would have had to hold his gun twelve feet away, and plant his feet at fourteen feet.

Now it is significant that at fourteen feet there is a path paralleling the fence line of the southeast, and a person sitting on the porch cannot see any one approaching in this path until he is fairly abreast.

In view of these circumstances, it is worth while to consider if the murderer was not a man of moderate height and a good revolver shot, who walked down the path in the shadow of the house, and fired upward at the woman.

SNAPPER-KILLER OF CLEVELAND OFFICER CAUGHT

Cerrodo Twice Shot His Way to Freedom.

DETROIT, Mich., June 26.—[Special.] A six weeks man hunt through the state west ended tonight when twenty-four policemen and detectives armed with guns captured John L. Whittred, the desperado who is Cleveland's chief criminal of that city. The kidnapper, known as "the bad man" who twice shot his way to freedom after arriving here, was found working in a Michigan Avenue lumber yard in this city. He gave up tonight when a revolver bullet struck him against his head and he was warned that at the slightest move would be riddled with bullets. He had been held pending removal to Cleveland, which city has failed to recover the brutality of the murder which it is charged he is guilty of.

Whittred was traced here from Madison, Wis., through Chicago, by Detective Lieutenant Charles O. Nevel of the Cleveland police.

FOUR SETS OF TWINS IN ONE GRADUATION CLASS

An unusual circumstance connected with the graduating exercises at the Burns school at 25th street and Central Park avenue was that the class included among its members four sets of twins. William and Edward Umenhauer, the boy twins, are shown at either end of the line. The girl twins, left to right, are: Mabel and Lillian Holpuch, Mae and Anna Fait, Elsie and Bertha Hovald.

WHARTON TIES UP TRAFFIC TO SIFT AUTO ACCIDENT

Holds Street Car and 55 to Quiz Witnesses.

Northbound street car traffic on Halsted street was tied up for nearly two hours last night and numerous passengers were late to supper and the theaters when the Stockyards police, acting under instructions of Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Wharton, pursued a street car for two miles, took the crew and forty-five passengers into custody, and held the car in front of the station while Mr. Wharton questioned them concerning an automobile accident. Cars were blocked for more than a mile along Halsted street while the witnesses were being examined.

Mr. Wharton was just alighting from his automobile in front of his home, 4199 South Halsted street, when he witnessed the accident at the corner of 42nd street.

Knocked Down by Truck.

George French, 68 years old, proprietor of the Walnut Hill stock farm at Gilman, Ill., who had been transacting business at the yards, attempted to cross in front of a northbound street car, which was struck by a southbound truck, driven by Chris Lontos, 5312 Wentworth avenue, a fruit dealer.

The aged farmer clung to the radiator of the truck and would have escaped unhurt but Lontos, becoming confused, first veered the truck car towards the side of the street car, turned aside, swerved towards the car again and turned once more. French's hold was loosened and the wheels of the truck passed over his body, crushing several ribs and causing internal injuries.

Speeds After Car.

Attorney Wharton rushed after the truck and Lontos stopped after he had gone on for about one hundred yards.

The man was arrested, but in the meantime the street car had proceeded on its way. Considering the stockiness of the after-truck-slip, Attorney Wharton assumed the street car and overtook it at 53rd street and Racine avenue.

Ten passengers were on the street

HARDING IS VICTOR IN GOLF MATCH OF FOUR PRESIDENTS

Salt Lake, Utah, June 28.—[By the Associated Press.]—Four presidents matched their skill at golf today on the links of the country club here. Warren G. Harding, President of the United States, won with Heber J. Grant, president of the Mormon church, as his partner. The losers were the presidents of the two golf clubs, L. C. Miller of the Country club and J. H. Johnson of the Bonneville club. The score was 1 up in the twelve holes played.

The game was played on what is said to be one of the sportiest courses in the country, a site formerly the bottom of a great lake, with cañons and plateau lands. President Harding's best drive was from the edge of a high precipice to a green 240 yards away in the cañon. He was in one and in in three.

PRIEST'S FIGHT ON MUSSOLINI ANGERS VATICAN

Catholic Party Chief Told to Quit.

BY V. DE SANTO.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright, 1923: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ROME, June 26.—Don Sturzo, a Sicilian priest, who organized and is the leader of the Catholic or populist party, is in disgrace at the Vatican.

Mr. Enrico Pucci of the Vatican chancery today wrote an article in the Corriere d'Italia, a Catholic newspaper in Rome, in which he virtually tells the Rev. Mr. Sturzo to withdraw from politics.

Mr. Pucci says the political activities on the part of Father Sturzo have put the Vatican in a delicate, embarrassing position and he insists the priest has no right to compromise the Vatican's position, which is above and beyond political interest.

Pope Pius X, at the beginning of the papacy in 1903, by a special bull allowed priests, who from 1870 had been forbidden to participate in the political life of Italy, to vote and even hold public offices.

Mr. Sturzo organized the Catholic party, which grew to big proportions, until at the latest election it obtained more than 100 seats in the chamber of deputies.

It is said now that the Vatican regards this vote as such a positive, for it finds it most difficult to separate its responsibility from that assumed by the Catholic party, in opposing the Mussolini government.

The present disagreement with the Vatican arises from the fact that the

Calls Sheriff's Reign "Lawless."

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 26.—[By the Associated Press.]—State troops will take charge of Okmulgee county tomorrow morning under the command of Brig. Gen. Alva Niles of Tulsa, it was announced tonight at the governor's office. Six national guardsmen were sent to the county with the keys to the city.

Then the disappointment came. Lloyd had heralded the news far and wide that he intended washing the face of Mr. Wrigley's clock. Before noon a small crowd was clustered outside the Municipal building to see him do it. It was to be the biggest political stunt of the session.

But at the last moment a representative of Pathe got an injunction prohibiting the stunt on the grounds if he were injured the company would suffer financial loss. Harold turned away in despair.

George Well Deployed.

Brig. Gen. Niles will assume supreme command in the county and deploy his troops at advantageous points. It is expected that the troops will be stationed at Okmulgee, Henryetta, Beggs and Stillwater.

The blanket proclamation of martial law signed by Gov. Walton supersedes all civil agencies. The proclamation says "a state of lawlessness and terrorism exists in the country," and adds that the order was a result of the neglect of the sheriff to enforce the law.

"Inexcusable arrests," insults to prisoners, and the killing of a colored man in a liquor hunt are charged against the sheriff's rule.

Arrested State Appointees.

Okmulgee, Okla., June 26.—The declaration of martial law in Okmulgee county is a climax of a series of events that involved the arrest of a number of men carrying commissions as state officers, issued by Gov. J. C. Walton. Sheriff John Russell said to-day:

Shortly after the arrest here some weeks ago of former Sheriff Henry Tucker and William Campbell, who carried state commissions, on charges of drunkenness, Gov. Walton, in a long distance telephone conversation, threatened martial law, Russell said.

The people of Okmulgee were surprised and angered by the governor's order.

BANDITS ROB NEBRASKA BANK.

City Hits Snag in Plan to Buy Old Herald Building

Plans of the council finance committee to acquire the old Record-Herald building, 163 West Washington street, at once and convert it into a new municipal court and police headquarters building met with a setback last night when the property owners and real estate agents were $200,000 apart in their valuations.

The owners ask $700,000 for the building.

It was appraised at $442,500 by the Cook County Real Estate board and $500,000 by the Chicago Real Estate board.

Grand Jury Witnesses

Failure of two important witnesses to appear before the special grand jury last night, when the jurors began investigation of an alleged "slush fund" collected by inspectors of the state of local improvements to obtain favors, was an ultimate thrill to the grand jury.

The two men are Philip S. Steiner, an inspector for the board, who is alleged to be the man who had charge of the "collections" and a man named Busick, working in the office of Cooper, Winslow & Davis, account-

RUSSIA FREES TIKHON, OUSTED HEAD OF CHURCH

MOSCOW, June 26.—(By the Associated Press)—The Supreme court has decided to release Archbishop Tikhon, ousted head of the Russian church, pending his trial on charges of resisting the soviet authorities, it was announced today.

The decision is the result of the letter which government circles recently announced the former patriarch had written from his prison cell expressing regret for his actions and declaring his readiness to swear allegiance to the soviet government.

From one official source it was indicated that he is given liberty only pending trial but in other quarters it is stated that the trial, which recently was postponed indefinitely, may never occur.

The Archbishop's Letter.

Archbishop Tikhon's letter, addressed to the Supreme court on June 16, as now given out, reads:

"Having been reared in monarchistic company and having been under the influence of anti-soviet people up to my arrest, I was against the soviet authority. Temporarily I was in a passive state, but went over into activity as against the Brest-Litovsk peace of 1918, adding my name to the names of those who signed the document and in the end issuing my call against the decree for the setting of church values in the year 1922."

"By this I declare to the Supreme court that in the future I will not be the enemy of the soviet authority. I finally and decisively give up action, secret or open, in aid of the monarchic white guard counter revolution."

Archbishop Tikhon Is Dead.

RIGA, June 26.—(By the Associated Press)—According to statements printed in the newspapers here Archbishop Tikhon, former patriarch of all Russia died in prison on June 16. The report says his death was caused by poison.

TEARNEY GETS INJUNCTION AND OPENS HIS CAFE

Al Tearney's cafe at 235 East 38th street, was reopened last night, after the granting of an injunction by Circuit Judge Ira Ryner yesterday afternoon, enjoining the police from interfering with the operation of a restaurant there, and from interfering with dancing patrons.

The cafe was closed several weeks ago by order of Mayor Dever. Judge Ryner held the city had no right to license restaurants. The cafe is to be operated as a restaurant, where patrons may dine and dance. An ordinance for the licensing of restaurants had been held invalid by the Supreme court, Judge Ryner said.

Deciding that the city was "tagged to death," the council finance committee last night flatly refused to authorize a tag day for the benefit of the volcano sufferers in Italy. The aldermen, who have limited Chicago to three tag days a year, began announcing plans for a Russian day, Czech-Slovakian day, Swedish day and other days with the result the committee decided to have no more tag days at all save the three already authorized.

10,000 PAID TO HIM ON SCHOOL INSURANCE DEALS

Check Bares Contract in Lundin Trial.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
W. Huncke, insurance broker at 110 Ohio street, was the chief witness in the state in the school board trial before Judge Charles McDonald yesterday. Through his witness, who was described as "Astute" Marvin E. Barnard, it was established that Fred V. Rohn, nephew of Fred Rohn by marriage, drew at least $10,000 in commissions on premiums paid by the board of education for insurance during 1920, 1921, and 1922. It is believed he had told the grand jury that Rohn got $90,000.

It was also established that during the period of the O. W. Huncke company, for the Southern Surety company, he enjoyed a practical monopoly on surety business of the board. It was also testified that George Hitler and Charles J. Lundin, of the Southern Surety company, pay their board come in at $5,000 a year. Edwin C. Johnson, a brother-in-law of Lundin, was an employee of

No Evidence of Irregularity.
The above completes the state's case in the trial. Standing alone, these witnesses are woven into the general story for what they are worth. There is no evidence of irregularity or malfeasance. The Huncke company is known to be in good standing. It claims promptly and in full its dues are standard. The sole showing of Rohn, through his political connections, was able to bring in a lot business to his firm. His commissions were from 10 to 30 per cent, with particular reference to school board business. Lundin does not figure directly at all.

He testified that he had been in the insurance business twenty-six years. C. Rohn & Co. had an office from May, 1919, to August, 1920, he said. He said he talked with John in 1919 about board of education insurance and made a general arrangement on insurance in which the board was included. He was asked if the arrangement was regular.

In May, 1919, I arranged with him to continue a general arrangement in which I had with George Johnson on liability insurance on a commercial basis. The basis was a commission of 20 per cent on surety bonds, no reinsurance was necessary, no surcharge where reinsurance was necessary, 10 per cent on ordinary, 10 per cent on preferred classes, 10 per cent on workmen's compensation, 15 per cent on public liability, 15 per cent on auto insurance.

Regular Brokers' Rates.

He was the regular brokers' Rohn and I talked about putting several men in to let it be known he was in the insurance business to advertise the fact, and as him. I took this up with my wife and they left it to me. They would reimburse me. I failed to pick out any two men named. He selected Peters and

How much? A—Most of it.

Rohn said he paid Rohn from $10,000 to $10,000 in 1920 on board of education business; $15,000 in 1921 and some amount in 1922.

Didn't you pay $20,000 in 1920?

"ASSIGNED CAR" RULE FOR ROADS' COAL ABOLISHED

It Is Unfair, Interstate Commission Rules.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., June 26.—(Special)—Over the protests of the railroads the interstate commerce commission today ordered the abolition of the "assigned car rule" under which the railroads have insured a supply of coal for their own use during fuel supply stringencies and other periods of emergency.

The action of the commission is expected to result in more regular employment in the coal mining regions and a stabilization of production, eliminating a preferential status of the railroads which is alleged to have contributed frequently to shortage of fuel for general consumption.

An investigation was commenced by the commission more than two years ago. Several organizations of coal operators and United Mine Workers appeared at hearings to urge abolition of the assigned car rule while attorneys for the railroads opposed.

Commissioner Atchison's Ruling.

In the decision which was prepared by Commissioner Atchison it was held that the practice of the railroads in assigning cars for railroads fuel to bituminous coal mines in excess of the ratable share contemporaneously distributed to bituminous coal mines upon their lines which did not receive assigned cars in unjust and unreasonable and unduly prejudicial to mines not receiving assigned cars.

It was also held to be unduly preferential of mines which were supplied such cars in excess of the ratable proportion.

Dissenting opinions were filed by Commissioners Hall, Daniels, and Cox.

Find Conflicting Opinions.

"Much of the voluminous record dealt with the practical effect upon mine labor. The evidence is conflicting in many respects, and it does not seem necessary to state it other than generally. The mine operators are not unanimous in their opinion that the assigned car practice has been detrimental to their industry; but the great majority of them, and all the representatives of mine labor who appeared are firmly of the opinion that it has."

"Out of the mass of conflicting testimony it may be conservatively stated as established that the general effect of the assigned car practice is to attract as many desirable miners as can be given employment to the assigned car mine, and away from commercial mines, and particularly so in the unionized fields."

The alliance is making a national survey of conditions respecting Sunday work in the seven day week.

"After the armistice was signed," Mr. Gary wrote, "we entirely discontinued the seven day week, and since that time have been operating on the six day week basis. I am not aware of any infringement. If we should learn of any, a remedy would be promptly provided."

"We do not believe in the seven day week. Also, we are actually opposed to the twelve hour day and are hoping that in the comparatively near future that will be eliminated."

FEAR DIXON FARMER IS VICTIM OF HEAT; SOUGHT IN CHICAGO

Fears were expressed by A. E. Simonsen, 44th street, Dixon, Ill., that Edward Henry, a 22-year-old son of South Dixon, who has been missing from his home since June 19, has fallen victim to heat. Mr. Simonsen requested The TRIBUNE to aid him in finding Edward Henry, whom he believes may be wandering aimlessly in Chicago.

Mr. Theodore Niblock Thorne, former president of the Women's exchange, a charitable organization which contracted to furnish lamps to the hotel, testified at the trial she had paid $750 to Mader to avert a strike of building trades workers on the hotel.

The Appellate court also ruled yes-

MERCHANT SAYS CZECHO-SLOVAKIA LEADS IN EUROPE

G. W. Montgomery Tells of Trade on Continent.

Czecho-Slovakia is the only country in Europe which is forging ahead and "winning out its destiny," according to George W. Montgomery, former general manager of the Fair, now of New York, who returned to Chicago for a few days after spending six and a half months in a business survey of European nations.

Mr. Montgomery found a tendency toward a return to normal in England and France but declares business conditions in both countries have under-gone a great change since the war.

Change in England.

"I found England far different from what it was before the war, commercially," he said. "Then England had all the business it could handle, and it was a case of 'take it or leave it.' Now they are ready to make every thing one wants the way it is wanted. I noted a marked increase in the manufacture of china, or pottery, as they call it."

Germany was described by the former Chicago merchant as "a country without morale."

"This may be accounted for," he said, "by the fact that the people are making less than a living wage, despite the fantastic figures into which their salaries run. A German stenographer, for instance, told me she received about 450,000 marks a month, which amounts to something like $6. A simple dress costs 180,000 marks and a suit of ready made clothes costs a German 560,000 marks but is ridiculously cheap for an American at $5."

Nation of Spendthrifts.

The continuous fall of the mark, due to the excessive printing of worthless paper, has made Germany the most spendthrift country in the world, as the people have absolutely no incentive to save, except in more stable foreign currency, which they hoard whenever they can get any. The entire nation, down to mere office boys and school boys and girls, is gambling in marks."

Mr. Montgomery advocates a downward revision of the tariff as the best means of helping the whole of Europe look on its financial feet. Gloves made in France, he declared, are now beyond the reach of the working class of America in cost owing to the increase in duty.

Balaban & Katz Theatres

Have No Summer Discomforts

This is the time of the year when many people do not go to the theatre because of the summer discomforts in the theatre, and because of the usual summer policy of inexpensive entertainment.

There is no "Summer policy" at Balaban & Katz theatres. There are no Summer discomforts. These theatres are equipped with huge electrical freezing plants which keep their interiors cool—inviting—refreshing—Spring-like. And their performances are just as elaborate in Summer as in Winter.

For example, here in the month of June, we put on the biggest show of the year—the pretentious Grand Opera vs. Jazz week—eight wonderful stage numbers—which proved such a sensation at the Chicago, Tivoli and Riviera.

You thousands who attend these theatres regularly during the hot Summer months, know how much more comfortable you are in these theatres than out of them. Those who have never been here—though it is difficult to believe there are many such—have a revelation to enjoy.

You may not know—yet it is true—that these are the only theatres in Chicago equipped with freezing plants. Don't you think that it is this determined effort to serve you 365 days in the year which keeps Balaban & Katz theatres foremost in your minds?

BODY OF STURTZ TO BE EXHUMED; SUSPECT SLAYING

Police Will Be Quizzed on Finding Body.

Evidence leading to a possibility that Charles A. Sturtz, manager of the local office of the Corona Typewriter company, was murdered and did not commit suicide, as was indicated, yesterday caused Coroner Oscar Wolf to obtain a court order from Circuit Judge Philip L. Sullivan, directing that Sturtz's body be exhumed from Montrose cemetery.

Sturtz was found dead, shot twice through the heart and brain, on Kimball avenue, near Peterson road, on May 31. A coroner's jury, after hearing testimony, returned a verdict of "murder." An investigation by the coroner, aided by Coroners' Physicians William D. McNally and Edward Hartman, was conducted at the request of Sturtz's widow, Mrs. Sadie Sturtz, 4832 North Drake avenue. She said she was convinced her husband had no reason to end his life.

Will Quiz Police.

Discrepancies in the testimony at the inquest of Thomas J. Giblin and John F. O'Brien, the two policemen who found Sturtz's body lying under a tree alongside his automobile, the motor of which was still running, led Coroner Wolf to state that he had questions about the shooting.

They told of finding in Sturtz's hand a .38 caliber revolver, in which they said were four unexploded cartridges and two shells. The revolver, returned to Coroner Wolf after having been displaced, is of .38 caliber. Another bullet, of .38 caliber, was found bur-

Three Shots Fired.

Three shots, instead of two, must have been fired, the coroner said, and the body will be subjected to a post mortem to determine the caliber of the bullet which caused death.

Mrs. Sturtz told the coroner that her husband had been financial difficulties, and that they were having trouble. She insisted that he could not have shot himself twice, and demanded a thorough investigation.

PICK CHICAGO CENTER OF AMERICAN TRANSPORTATION

Officials Would Unite Water, Motor System

BY J. L. JENKINS.

Chicago is designated as the transportation center for the 6th corps area in the national motor transport division revealed yesterday by Maj. Taylor, chief of the motor transport division of the United States Army.

Experts of the division have selected a detailed plan for construction of rail, water, and highway systems throughout the entire country.

After approval of congress,

the American transportation interest hopes that its adoption will aid both the military and commercial interests of the country.

"Transportation lessons of the war were too costly to be ignored," says Maj. Taylor.

the gun-wielding widow. The money will come out of the firemen's insurance and pension fund in which "the workin' folk" established an equity before the wife and sister killed him.

With these two new jury precedents thus established—the right of a good time wife to kill a workin' folk husband, and the right of the widow to collect a cash bounty therefor—the life of firemen and other males in this village becomes parlous indeed.

THE GAME OF STICKING UNCLE SAM.

Some remarks uncommonly interesting to the people of these United States were made in the French chamber of deputies the other day. They were cable to The Tribune by its correspondent, Henry Wales, and ought not to pass without special notice.

The debate was on the budget, which was subjected to bitter attack by deputies who thought the government was spending too much money on military operations, notably in the near east.

To this criticism the chairman of the budget committee replied: "I prefer not to discuss either the Syrian policy or the Syrian mandate, but I remind you that France already has expended several billion francs for military and diplomatic operations in Syria. The league of nations should have assumed these charges itself, which foreign critics of our budget should remember. We insist at least on an exact accounting being maintained, stating what it has cost us in Syria for a future international settlement of accounts."

Mr. Wales reports many of those present inferred from this statement that France and Great Britain intend to charge off the cost of operations under the mandates to the league of nations if the United States is drawn in.

The theory is plausible and, at any rate, it opens up a possibility which has not been discerned or at least discussed in this country. We don't doubt there are plenty of advocates of our entrance into the league who would not falter over such a proposal. Their altruism would accept for us a share of responsibility for the cost of the Syrian enterprise of the powers engaged, and swallow the remarkable interpretation implied by the chairman of the French budget committee, namely, that France and England have been laboring unselfishly for world peace in that region.

But we think if there were any great likelihood of our entering the league, the suggestion of the possibility that we should thereby find ourselves committed to pay a share of the expense of imperialist enterprises carried on under the mask of mandates would promptly cure our folly. Meanwhile, it is well to keep this interesting idea in mind against such league propaganda as survives.

CONCERNING MR. GARY.

The Rev. F. E. Johnson, speaking as head of the research department of the Federal Council of Churches, says: "We are forced to take seriously the statement made by E. H. Gary, that he is less concerned over the twelve hour day itself than over what the public thinks about it." That is very properly a statement to be taken seriously. If only what the public thinks will move Mr. Gary or the steel industry in general to eliminate this system, it becomes a proper task for all decent agencies to pursue the public to think.

To that end we quote from an article on "The Twelve Hour Shift," by Charles R. Walker, printed in the June issue of the American Labor Legislative Review. The personal experience of Mr. Walker as a laborer in the steel mills refutes the chief arguments of the steel directors in behalf of the twelve hour shift. These arguments are that the men employed on these shifts have much leisure time, are not exhausted, and prefer the long hours for the extra pay earned.

"It consists of two different jobs with an interval between—making back wall" and "making front wall." In making back wall, all the helpers on a furnace, assisted by several drafted from neighboring furnaces, march past the door of the furnace, each man hurling his shovelful of dolomite across the flaming bottom of the furnace to the back wall. The door opens for an instant in a man's face as he goes by. The heat is high, about 180 degrees at the distance from which he hurls his shovelful. Every man, no matter what his physical equipment, is apt to be temporarily exhausted at the conclusion of a back wall, and usually takes a spell of half an hour to recuperate.

"In making front wall, which is not as a rule as exhausting, follows half an hour or so later. It consists in spreading dolomite on the front wall or sloping surface that falls away from the door of the furnace to the center of the hearth. The exposure to heat and risk of burns even for experienced workers is considerable. Making front wall is a matter of half an hour's work, and the third helper has, as a rule, five or six to make on a shift. He assists likewise at two or more back walls."

PICK CHICAGO AS CENTER OF ARMY TRANSPORT PLAN

Officials Would Unite Rail, Water, Motor Systems.

BY J. L. JENKINS.

Chicago is designated as the transportation center for the 8th corps army one in the national motor transport plan revealed yesterday by Maj. E. Taylor, chief of the motor transport division of the United States army.

Experts of this division have composed a detailed program for coordination of rail, water and motor ways throughout the entire country. Backed by approval of congress, they are now submitting the scheme to all American transportation interests with the hope that its adoption will unify all national movements and safeguard the military and commercial safety of the country.

World Profit by War Lessons.

"Transportation lessons of the world were too costly to be ignored in time of peace," Maj. Taylor declared.

"We are simply carrying on the vital study of transportation which began as a life and death matter and which must be recognized now as the most important of peace time developments.

The army has already proved its transportation plan. It is now coming to the commercial branch of the country and asking general adoption of the same.

Firstly, the army has found that all movements requiring a haul of more than 50 miles should be handled by railroads and waterways. Hauls within the 50 mile radius should be made by motor. This is the logical principle of modern transportation, but the difficulty lies in making all three branches of service see and adopt it instead of competing one with the other or operating under unrelated systems.

How Work Is Planned.

"In our study we have designated transportation centers within 50 miles of one another throughout the country as the basic design for motor transportation movements. These centers are to be built by three types of highways—radial trunk lines; arterial or through routes and belt line roads. Most of these roads already exist. Some will have to be built to complete the system. Under the general plan, motor transport will be directed, routed and scheduled much as railroad movements are now. The highways will be used by the railroads and ships as a part of their own service."

"At our last meeting," said Dr. Dawe, "we discussed plans for a third party and for a convention of Michigan delegates. The more we study the matter, the more we are inclined to believe it will develop into a national event."

RESUME FIGHT TO CUT RATES OF PHONE SERVICE

Chicago yesterday resumed its drive for a reduction in telephone rates at a hearing before the Illinois commerce commission. Stephen A. Foster, special assistant corporation counsel, contending present rates are not fair, directed an attack on the Illinois Bell Telephone company's contracts with the Western Electric company and the American Telegraph and Telephone company.

It is admitted the Western Electric, which is controlled by the American Telephone and Telegraph company, sells equipment at a 17 per cent reduction to the latter's subsidiaries, including the local company, which pays 4½ per cent on gross earnings to the parent organization. Mr. Foster contends profits of the three organizations are so closely affiliated they should be considered in determining a fair rate for the Illinois Bell Telephone company.

William D. Bangs, attorney for the company, opposes this, maintaining that only the cost of service can properly be inquired into.

MICHIGAN FORD CONVENTION TO BE CALLED SOON

Detroit, Mich., June 26.—[Special.] A convention of delegates from all Ford-Dealership clubs in Michigan will be called in Dearborn soon. In the opinion of the Rev. Dr. William Dawe, president of the club, the Ford sentiment sweeping the country is so great the proposed convention is almost certain to develop into a national rather than a state affair.

The announced aims of the convention are the formation of a third national political party and the nomination and election of Henry Ford as President of the United States.

Dr. Dawe said national pressure has become so great the first Ford-for-Presidential club can no longer ignore the tremendous expansion of its own spontaneous action in forming the Dearborn club and that a third party is almost formed.

"At our last meeting," said Dr. Dawe, "we discussed plans for a third party and for a convention of Michigan delegates. The more we study the matter, the more we are inclined to believe it will develop into a national event."

SMALL'S VETO ON DEVER'S LICENSE
MEASURE FEARED

SIGNS 40 BILLS; TEACHERS' PENSION APPROVED.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

Springfield, Ill., June 26.—[Special.] When Gov. Small was signing forty bills, including the Igoe amendment to the teachers' pension law, rumors circulated through the statehouse today that the governor intends to veto Mayor Dever's license bill tomorrow because of the mixup over senate amendments.

The governor must decide on the measure tomorrow, as the ten day limit for his consideration of the license bill expires then.

"I have not determined my action on that bill," he said today. "I was in session until when we finished the hearings I would be able to do so determine. Presently I am not very favorable to this kind of taxation, and I believe it should be resorted to only in those cases where a city administration is absolutely unable under existing laws and provisions to raise sufficient money to operate efficiently and then only by those city governments in that condition."

"I think that if the city of Chicago is unable to operate without this revenue, then the officials of the city should make it very plain to the governor that this is necessary."

Teachers Win Fight.

Gov. Small signed the teachers' pension law amendment in the presence of a delegation of Chicago school teachers, headed by Miss Margaret Haley, women representative of the Chicago teachers' federation. The delegation included: Mary M. Abbot, secretary of the teachers' pension board; Nona T. Hickey, chairman of the legislative committee of the Chicago division, State Teachers' association, and Bertrand M. Armbruster, president of the Chicago division.

The bill provides that the tax for teachers' pension funds shall be levied on the Juul law. It prescribes a maximum pension of $1,000 and provides that service in schools in any part of the United States may be counted as part of the period of eligibility for pension.

School Playground Bill.

Gov. Small also signed the school playground tax bill, which authorizes state outside the general levy.

Supreme court judges will be elected in February at the time of the alternate primaries as a result of the governor's action in signing the Mason bill.

Gov. Small expects to hold a hearing next week on the bill increasing the salary of Cook county Circuit and Probate court judges to $15,000.

This signed by the governor today included the following:

PRESIDENT SAYS STATES PLUNGE AS U. S. CUTS TAX

In the first two years following the war federal taxes in the United States continued much higher than while the conflict was on, since the high point of 1920 they have been reduced more than one-half."

"It is a record," added Mr. Harding, "to which the party now in control of the administration has justified in reducing with no small measure of satisfaction."

Mr. Harding defended and praised the war debt settlement with the British government. "I undertake to say," he asserted, "that no event since the conclusion of hostilities has contributed so much to putting the world back on its way to stabilization, to confirming our position in regard to the established conviction that our social institutions are yet secure."

Heavy Welcome in Utah.

The President's welcome in Utah was a hearty one. At Ogden where he left the train and all along the thirty-six mile automobile ride to Salt Lake, the people made it unmistakably plain that they were glad to see him.

Greeted by Gov. Mabey and Senators Smoot and King at Ogden, the President spent an hour at Ogden and addressed an enthusiastic crowd in Lester park. There he made a short speech to the school children. He told them that on this tour he had a strong desire to know his country better. All along the way to Salt Lake the President and Mrs. Harding were warmly welcomed. School children tossed bouquets into the presidential car, and at some places the roads were laid with floral banks over which the procession of cars passed. Several times at the President's request the procession stopped and he and Mrs. Harding shook hands with the people.

Praises Their Children.

At Bountiful, the home of Gov. Mabey, the President addressed a strong crowd. "I have found a new state in your wonderful country which I am delighted to adopt, namely, the one which refers to 'Utah's best crop.' I do not know when I have seen so many happy, smiling, sturdy children in so short a period of travel. A thousand delights have come to us in getting more intimately acquainted with your wonderful country. I love the names of your villages; I love the prospect of great cities the eyes when one looks from the window or the door in the morning; I love the majestic and wonderful picture that nature has painted everywhere; I love the prospect of great productivity in the fields, but I love above all else the boyhood and the girlhood of marvelous Utah. Nothing can ever go wrong with a Republic in which so many healthy, happy children are developing amid the opportunities and privileges of our America. It is fine to see you, and I am glad to you that your visitors are deriving a much better time in coming to see you than you are having in seeing them."

Makes Plea for Court.

Near the conclusion of his address, the President made a plea to the western audience in behalf of his permanent court of international justice proposal, declaring, amidst prolonged applause, that it is "the most practical move in the history of world peace."

"I want America," he added, "to have something of a spiritual ideal. I am seeking American sentiment in favor of an international court of justice and mutual confidence in the future of our country. I have had my own faith renewed this morning, and am grateful for the opportunity of greeting you as well as having you offer your greetings to us."

Here in Salt Lake the President dressed a good thing of school children in Lester park.

"It is quite impossible for me to speak at length or to be heard by any considerable number of you," he said, "but I am going to tell a secret to those of you who are immediately in front of me and then you can tell the secret to your friends. I am traveling with some members of my official party, but I will say to Herbert Hoover, the secretary of commerce, he is not now with us, because I read in one of Mr. Hoover's official reports that Salt Lake City has a population of

ANTI-SALOONISTS PLEDGE HARDING SUPPORT OF BODY

Westerville, O., June 26.—[Special]—President Harding today received the official endorsement of national officers and state superintendents of the Anti-Saloon League of America, assembled here for a three day "council of war" for the stand he took in his recent speech at Denver on prohibition and prohibition enforcement.

The conference sent a telegram pledging the support of the Anti-Saloon League of America to the President and congratulating him on his Denver speech. To the President at Salt Lake City later in the day a telegram was sent by George K. Morris, chairman of the New York state Republican committee, in which the Republican leaders of New York were called on to declare whether they were in accord with the President or would continue "old fashioned alliance with Tammany." Themissive was signed by Orville S. Roland, counsel of the New York Anti-Saloon league, but was sent with the approval of the meeting.

The present conference, according to the Rev. Dr. Howard H. Russell, founder and associate national superintendent of the league, was called to perfect plans for the coming campaigns.

Every moving part of a GMC truck, in both engine and chassis, can quickly be replaced. Simplicity of design renders necessary replacements unusually economical in labor time saved and because of the reasonable price of GMC parts. There is no reason why GMC trucks should not last much longer than the estimated life of the average motor truck.

People ask that question and here is the answer: May is the coldest month in 32 years, and overproduction of fine materials by the mills forced manufacturers, jobbers and mills agents in need of cash to carry on their business. Rothschild & Company fortunately were in a position to take advantage of these wonderful opportunities, and we pass them on to the public, as is the duty of a great public-serving store.

Every woman who does her own sewing, every dressmaker, every small merchant—every storekeeper in the city and out of the city, should take advantage of this remarkable opportunity to buy famous fabrics at less than the cost to weave them.

There will be no limit placed on the yardage sold to any one customer. We have engaged an extra force of salesmen to take care of the enormous traffic that will crowd our stores.

POLICE PRAISED AND BLAMED FOR ARRESTS OF BOYS

Any crime and "de cops" was decried by the police and the judicial standpoint.

"But the county jail is no place for the boy offender. I urge this committee to try to secure the old John Worth school, to be converted into a detention home."

The meeting elected the following officers of the Boys' Court association:

President, Foster S. Nims of the Hamlin club; secretary, John F. Tyrrell of the Big Brothers' club; assistant secretary, John F. McMahon, assistant state's attorney.

FALLS FROM SHIP DEUCE DROWNS. Holland, Mich., June 26.—(Special)—An American Civilian deck hand on the passenger ship City of Grand Rapids fell from the deck of the ship and was drowned in Chicago. Cream prices are not affected.

The new scale is to be effective to Dec. 1, raising the price from 13 to 14 cents per quart.

PRICE OF MILK ADVANCES CENT A QUART JULY 1

On July 1 the retail price of milk will go up a penny a quart, according to announcement yesterday by an official of the Borden Farm Products, Inc., following a statement from the Milk Producers' association that prices of the farms are to be increased by 15 cents per hundredweight for delivery of country plants and 20 cents an eight-gallon cans on delivery of the fleet.

"We do not wish to make babies suffer in this hot weather, but the added cent is scarcely the equivalent of the extra 15 cents a hundred," read the Borden statement.

The increased prices to the farmer were made necessary by higher labor, increased cost of feed, and the expense of injury to cattle from heat and flies, the association maintained.

Warden Westbrook.

Chief of Police Collins, Kearns decried, "should call a meeting of all parents and instruct them in NOT making arrests. A boy is taken to the station suspected of having committed a felony. Nobody will appear against him and identify him as the offender. So the police want to scare him. So they book him on 'twenty-twelve,' a disorderly conduct charge. When the boy is brought to court the judge, for want of prosecution, dismisses the case."

Added to the evil of wrong arrest, Kearns pointed out, is the evil of the record. "The next time a crime is committed in that neighborhood, the boy with the police record is grabbed first. This system makes boy criminals."

Warden Westbrook was on his feet, shouting.

Forced to Make Amends.

There is a foolish law on the statute books which makes it mandatory for a police officer to arrest anyone against whom a charge is made," he said. "The Juvenile court has officials at the station, vested with power to veto arrests. No such power of judiciary is given the police in the case of boys."

POINTS WAY TO END SMUGGLING OF ALIENS TO U.S.

BABYLON'S RUINS RIVAL WONDERS BURIED WITH TUT

Temples 4,000 Years Old Hide Relics.

lashed the identity of Kish in the lofty ruins of Oshman early in March of this year.

"He then located the temple of the war god, Isha, on the northeast side of the stage tower, and found brick stamps of this king with the following inscription in Sumerian:

"Samsul-Il, King of Sumer, made Acaod, house and temple on high, the temple of the god of the god Isha, in Kish, which his ancestor, Sumu-Il, had built."

Stage Towers Preserved.

"Samsul-Il was the second king of this dynasty (2237-2176 B.C.J.). The pavement of the temple of the god Isha, in Kish, which his ancestor, Adda-Aspal-Idanna, was located in April, and several stamped bricks were found which commemorate his reconstruction.

"These preliminary discoveries proved that the excavators must be approaching the more ancient strata which belong to the earliest history of Babylon, and in May, just before the intense heat compelled the cessation of our work, Mr. Mackay found walls of piano-corded brickwork, an indication of the oldest Sumerian period.

"The most interesting and revolutionary discoveries were made when Mr. Mackay uncovered the southeast and northeast sides of the stage tower.

"Not only are the fronts of the stage built with deep and well made recesses, but the first stage has rows of chambers connected by a corridor, and beneath which are stamped tablets were found."

"An evil system, a vile device, a crying disgrace, a civil wrong and shame to humanity," Mr. Davis said. "The smuggling system, generally in vogue in this country.

"The usual form of pothouse should not be permitted in this country," he said. "Instead of 100 counties with 100 pothouses, there should be not more than one or two centralized institutions where wholly adequate facilities would be provided."

Would Shut Immigrants.

Before the hardware men at the Coliseum, Secretary Davis urged a selective system of immigration and told of the enormous traffic in the immigrant aliens.

"The only means to stop it," he said, "would be for the government to enroll every alien upon his arrival and issue to him a means of identification which would establish his right to be here. Over a period of years I would provide for an annual census of these aliens that we might discover those who came illegally."

Motions to Head Moles.

Frank Morrison of California, it was learned yesterday, is certain to become an supreme director of the Moles today. Members of the order now total 42,000,000. It was announced by Secretary Davis in his capacity of director general of the order. To the policy of caring for and educating dependent children of deceased members of the order, the secretary laid the growth of the order and its good financial condition.

Cocoanut Oil Makes a Splendid Shampoo.

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes hair brittle, and causes the hair to fall out. Cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless) is much better than any soap you can use. It leaves the hair fine and silky, bright, shiny, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get this finished shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months. Be sure and ask for "Mobilized."

BUFFALO CHAMP, CHICAGOAN LEAD IN CAPITOL GOLF

BY JOE DAVIS.

Washington, D. C., June 26.—(Special)—Attempting the task of having thirty golfers hit a ball over a municipal course proved too much for the officials of the United States Golf association today, so Chairman James Standish of the public links committee stopped play in the qualifying round when twenty were still on the Potomac park course in darkness. It was close to 8 o'clock when the last ball was called.

At this stage a highly interesting race was in progress. Ray McLaughlin of Buffalo, three times champion of western New York, and four times champion of Buffalo, was leading the field with a 75.

John Dawson Near Top.

Rush upon his heels came John Dawson, the sturdy Columbian park saver. Chicago, who in the morning had set a new course record of 73, equaling par, and who had reached two in the afternoon with 25, giving him a great opening to win the new qualifying score. Patiently waiting at each tee, John continued on his homeward way and had played six holes for a total of 30, when the order to cease firing arrived. He has three holes to play now, and if he can make 10, he will be in a tie of 2, 2, and 4. To finish his round with a 75 and have a margin of two shots over the Buffalo player. He can go 2 over par and the McLaughlin.

There are a number of others interested in this morning's finish, as the players with totals of 184 are on the rugged edge and may be put out of the list of thirty-two eligibles tomorrow.

New Chicago Players Stand.

Dawson is the only Chicago player still out, as W. H. Wallace of Lincoln Park, 80—85—174; A. E. Green, 84—85—175; F. L. Lewis, 84—85—175; and Little Bob White, 84—85—175, were completely off form and fell 88—186.

Grand Beach many hours to examine the banks you whether you would wish to have some more permanent summer home, don't desire to purchase, still to have a nice place of your own, there is no better place than Grand Beach. There is not a lot of room on Grand Beach but what you can do of them did not go wrong.

Bob White had three 6s on his out round in the morning and five on the round in the afternoon. George Diering of Chicago had a total of 101 at the last hole and took 6, which just put him outside the qualifying pace.

SHELBY ARENA BUILDERS TAKE CHANCE FOR COIN

BY FRANK SMITH.

SHELBY, Mont., June 26.—(Special)—With the exception of the payment to Jack Kearns of the third $100,000 of Tommy's guarantee of $200,000, the last obstacle in the way of the fifteen round decision bout between Dempsey and Gibbons for the heavyweight championship here July 4, was swept away at 4:15 o'clock this afternoon. The final payment for the arena was settled at that hour. Placing of the $100,000 due Dempsey in escrow tomorrow night, as announced exclusively in these columns, probably will be done tomorrow in Great Falls.

Beginning at 9 o'clock this morning there was one mysterious conference after another all over town. Finally the conclusion was reached in Mayor H. A. Stanton's office. George H. Stanton, Great Falls banker; Mayor Johnson, State Senator James Speers of Great Falls; H. A. Templeton, general manager of the Monarch Lumber company, and Jack Humphreys, contractor for the arena, were the boys confabbing.

Willing to Gamble.

Then it was learned the whole dog-gone row was over payment for the arena. The lumber company held a chattel mortgage of $55,000 on the bowl and Humphreys a labor lien of $17,000. A threat of the lumber company to foreclose on the arena brought Stanton and Speers to Shelby post haste. They didn't want to see that $100,000 paid Jack Kearns thrown into the arena.

Small Humphreys said he would be willing to go along and gamble on the receipts for his share of the pot. The Stanton crowd joined him, leaving Templeton on the other side of the fence.

At 10:45 Stanton emerged from the conference, a bit red in the face, as if he had been expounding to Templeton in evangelical fashion. Speers indicated to Templeton that if he didn't come along with the rest of the gang his proposed foreclosure would be fought out in the courts.

Shelby was called back.

Agree to Wait for Coin.

Presently Stanton came out and stated that the financial fight was over. The three factions had agreed to the following terms:

The three parties to pool their interests and pro-rate payment according to the amount claimed by each. The $100,000 to be paid by Stanton, the $55,000 by Templeton, and the $17,000 labor lien by Humphreys.

Stanton, who is brief and pointed in his remarks, turned to go and get ready for the train to carry him back to Great Falls, when about forty voices in unison broke in: "How about the three dissatisfied factions might try to stamp their hands on this amount."

There was some talk here today that the $100,000 already was in hand—but that it would be necessary to do a shoo-in of this amount until the over-contractor had been settled for fear that the dissatisfied factions might try to stamp their hands on this amount.

GIBBONS RESTS.

BY HARRY NEWTON.

SHELBY, Mont., June 26.—(Special)—Tommy Gibbons laid off this afternoon from his usual training stunts, but continued a baseball team against a local organization. The game was a tie at first, but it wasn't long before the situation that has arisen over the July 4 match between Gibbons and Jack Dempsey, scheduled here. Perhaps it might be better to call the fight situation a tragedy. No one seems to know what it is all about.

The whole town was just smothered in conferences all day. Not a line of definite confirmation could be given.

Jack Kearns was quoted as saying that if these birds handling the fight did not come through with the hundred grand on July 2, he would call off the fight. Of course Kearns still have to wait until the 21st of next month before he can make a move.

V. Comish Will Not Bother Leonard-Tandler.

New York, June 26.—(Special)—There will be no interference on the part of the New Jersey state athletic commission with the bout between Eddie Leonard and Leo Tandler at Yankee stadium July 23. This was decided at a meeting of the commission today. Leonard was suspended by the New Jersey boxing commission because he refused to meet Charlie White in New Jersey before going to the Bronx. The New Jersey commission held that Leonard's behavior with Rickard to box White set a particular date for that match.

It was the first "orient act" of disagreement between New York and New Jersey boxing authorities.

DEMPSEY VS. GIBBONS.

DEAR WAKE: The Dempsey-Gibbons bout will go no less than seven rounds. Jack will have to work longer for his money this time. Gibbons is in the "pink" right now. He has had two years' consistent ring work and training in comparison with Jack's layoff.

Gibbons plans a heavy battle to let Jack do all the leading and missing. Those who know Jack's boring-in tactics can appreciate this task.

COUNCIL CUTS WELFARE WORK APPROPRIATION

Anderson Leads Fight on Thompson's Pet Job.

Social service work among West Madison street hobos and the opening of a municipal welfare clearing house planned by Miss Mary McDowell, commissioner of public welfare, were frowned upon last night by members of the council finance committee who cut her request for a $2,000 appropriation to $2,500.

In the discussion Ald. Louis B. Anderson (2d) said: "I am sorry that Mrs. Mary McDowell, who has been a good leader headed many losing fights to obtain large appropriations for his patron's appointees, Mrs. Louise Osborne Rowe, led eleven aldermen, including nine Democrats to discourage aid to her successor."

Request Filed at First.

At the afternoon session of the committee on the request of Ald. Anderson the request for the appropriation was ordered "filed." When the committee reconvened for a night session there were several social workers in attendance who made the alderman uneasy about their present position. The greatest danger to France is from the isolation which seems to be slowly creeping around it.

Try to Abolish Job.

An ordinance to repeal the law creating "the most useless job of $17,500 on the municipal pay rolls" was presented to the committee yesterday. It was introduced by Mrs. Rowe in six years ending Dec. 15, 1921, had spent $109,000. In 1920 she spent $15,222 in taxi-cab fares alone, it was reported.

"I believe this department can be useful," said Ald. U. S. Schwartz (4th). "It suffered grievously under the former administration, but I believe its present head, Miss McDowell, one of the most loved women in our city and a woman internationally known for her wonderful work, who can accomplish great good for the whole community if encouraged."

Schwartz Champions Request.

Let us give her an opportunity to work out her plan, and if she fails then let's repeal the law which creates the position. There can be nothing done in the department, because we intentionally crippled it when the mayor vetoed other repeal ordinances.

During the debate on the efficiency report recommended that she be allowed $1,000. Ald. T. O. Wallace (44th) suggested that she be given $2,500. Ald. John Powers (36th) that it be cut to $750.

"I shall get along on what is left of my appropriation," Miss McDowell said. "Knowing the condition of the city's finances I did not appear to press my request, but next year I shall demand that the city show some interest in my work."

Mrs. McGinnis and Schade Fined on Robbery Charge

Charges of robbery against Mrs. Anna McGinnis and Charles Schade, indicted last Saturday of the killing of the former's husband, were dismissed yesterday. Max Levinsky, 1607 South Avens avenue, charged Schade received him of an overcoat and two diamond rings when he had a "date" with Mrs. McGinnis, whom Schade killed for her.

BRITISH SETTLE MOSUL DISPUTE WITH TURKEY

Way Now Clear for Near East Peace.

[Copyright, 1923, By The Chicago Tribune.]

LAUSANNE, June 26.—(Tribune)—

Most question is settled today on the words of article 5 in the treaty of peace. Lord Curzon's work in the first Lausanne conference, when he induced the Turks to agree to partial evacuation of the disputed territory, was completed today when the political commission adopted the article.

Lord Curzon's work in the first Lausanne conference, when he induced the Turks to agree to partial evacuation of the disputed territory, was completed today when the political commission adopted the article.

This article occasioned some hemming and hawing by the Turks. Ismet preferred referring unsettled questions to the Hague tribunal, which the Turks consider a safer and more fair body.

The English have insisted on the League from the beginning, however, since the British colonial votes in the Geneva body guarantee benevolent consideration of any British interests.

The British won this point, and the Mosul problem, therefore, is safely and permanently stowed away.

The session of the conference today was so pleasant—"amicable and friendly"—that both sides held high hopes.

One remaining question of primary importance, however, is the Ottoman debt, on which France and Turkey have engaged in battle for the last two months.

The greatest danger to France is from the isolation which seems to be slowly creeping around it.

The Slayer of Souls

BY ELIZABETH DEJEANS

SYNOPSIS.
Letitia Donovan believes all the romance in the world comes to other people. Her mother had died in her infancy, and she was reared haphazardly in Tixier by a father who naturally took to crookedness. Letitia leaves her native town to work for Denton Gorman in his Los Angeles office, and although her employer captures her romantic heart, she has grave doubts about his business activities.

INSTALLMENT III. THE FIGHT.

"You'll have to wait then," Letitia returned.
He took a chair then, which he appeared to find highly uncomfortable, so he twirched about, feet and hands never still. While apparently absorbed in reading circulars, Letitia observed him. He was slim and tall, dark haired and dark eyed. He was good looking in a pallid, restless eyed way, but he looked as if some obscure disease were consuming him. When in health, he must have been exceedingly handsome. Letitia considered him gravely; he swung his foot and looked slyly out of the window; and several times he rubbed his upper lip, his nostrils rather, with an extended forefinger. He seemed to be seething with impatience, quite unable to control his restlessness. Letitia guessed what troubled him. What could he want of Gorman? Then Gorman came in. His first glance was at Letitia, his second a sweeping look bestowed upon the young man, who had sprung to his feet.

"I want to see you, Mr. Gorman," he asserted.
Gorman's brow had lowered into a straight line. "Very well," he returned curtly. Then he turned his frown on Letitia, though she felt that it was not meant for her. "Has any one else been in here this afternoon?" he asked.

"No. Mr. Casey just telephoned—he wants you to call him."

"He'll have to wait." Gorman opened the door into his private room. "Come in here," he said to the young man, and stood aside while his visitor walked in with a sort of jerky haste.

As the young man passed him, Gorman looked him up and down, frowning at the stooped back of his visitor. Letitia went on reading circulars. She was unhappy; a man like that coming to see Gorman; trouble of some sort for Gorman. She closed the window then; the evening chill was coming; besides,

"I'm going! I'm through here!"

At the window closed she could hear better. What could they be talking about? She would not go to the connecting door, but she did want to hear. Was she curious, she was not alone in the room. The man must have come easily, a thick set, middle aged man, exceedingly well groomed, a little over forty, quite the prosperous looking business type. He studied Letitia a brief instant.

"Is Mr. Gorman in?" he asked.

Either naturally or purposely, his voice was low pitched. Letitia disliked him, he had come in so quietly. What was he whispering for?

"He's engaged," she said clearly enough. "Any message?"

"No, thank you. I'll wait a while," and he began to study the maps of Europe which adorned the walls, pausing before the map which was nearest the connecting door.

Letitia eyed his broad back with growing hostility. She did not know what to do; was the man trying to hear what went on in there? Letitia was fired by the protective; it would not do to go to the connecting door, as she could go out through the hall to Gorman's private entrance and see him. She was about to do it, when Gorman's voice suddenly raised itself as clearly as it did the man near the door:

"Get out of here!" Then, clear as a hammer stroke, "No!"

And then came the struggle shut away by the locked door, but imaginable enough to Letitia and the listening men; men grappling, an overturned chair, and a scuffle, a screech, a screech, a screech that was not Gorman's; then some one rushed into the hall and a door slammed on Gorman's profound, "You scoundrel! Show yourself here again and I'll pitch you out of the window! Keep away from her or I'll kill you!" Then there was perfect silence.

Letitia was gasping. The man had stood quietly near the door. When turned around, his air was urbane. "Fighting over a woman, it sounds like. Some one poaching on Gorman's preserves, I suppose. I'll go—he won't want to talk business for a while. Just tell him Mr. Connell called."

He went out, smiling as if over an amusing incident.

Letitia felt ill; not so much shocked by the act of violence as pierced by the certainty that there was a woman. And sickened by anxiety as well; for Gorman been hurt? But she would not go to the connecting door. He was moving about in there now, so he couldn't be badly hurt. Then her eyes began to rise; when he came in, she would act as if she had heard nothing and knew nothing; he would have to introduce the subject, she would.

She began to read circulars again, her hands unsteady; when, Gorman unlocked his door and came in she did not look up, not even when he stood beside her. Gorman spoke then, but what he said was utterly incomprehensible.

"Where did you get this?" he asked sharply.

The hand had shot down over her shoulder, and he had caught up the book which gleamed red on the pile of typewriting paper. Letitia looked up startled, and met flaming eyes in a face that was so white it was blue. She was angry and grew angrier.

"On the floor, of course!" she flashed at him. "I suppose there are some others there!"

Gorman looked at the hair, then at the floor, then into Letitia's angry eyes. "Here—in this room, Letitia?" he asked in a desperately harassed way. "Please tell me the truth."

Letitia could not withstand "Letitia," as he said it. She concentrated her anger on the woman. "I suppose she threw it out of her window. The bird found it," she said contemptuously. "That's what those two girls who live in my house do with their comings—throw them out of the window. I didn't find it on the floor—a bird flew up from the court and set it in its beak. It dropped it on the window sill there and I got it. That's the truth."

Apparently Gorman believed her. He held the thing in his hand and stood out of the window, evidently absorbed by his thoughts. The knife began to twist in Letitia's breast; he was thinking about that woman. When he asked abruptly, "Is your father in Los Angeles?"

It was the last straw. Letitia sprang up and went to the closet where she kept her hat and coat, and dragged them out. With her hand on the outer door, crimson and shaking, she flung at him: "You've treated me as if I was no better than a dog! I'm Dan Donovan's daughter, all right, but not decent! And you fighting over a woman in there—with a man like that! I'm going! I'm through here!"

Letitia had a blurred glimpse of Gorman turned about and looking at her in a grave, large eyed way. Then she jerked at the door and went out. Letitia chose the stairway. There was iron grilling all the way down, blinding glimpses of the elevator shaft, but she was not likely to be noticed in any of the elevators. There were seven flights of stairs, and she would have time to put on her things and stop crying. The tears kept rolling down her cheeks. She was not so angry now, just miserably conscious that Gorman had not tried to stop her; he had said nothing. The tears were still falling her eyes, so, when half way down, she saw only vaguely the man standing in the turning of the stairway. As she passed him, she saw his face averted, hoping to escape notice.

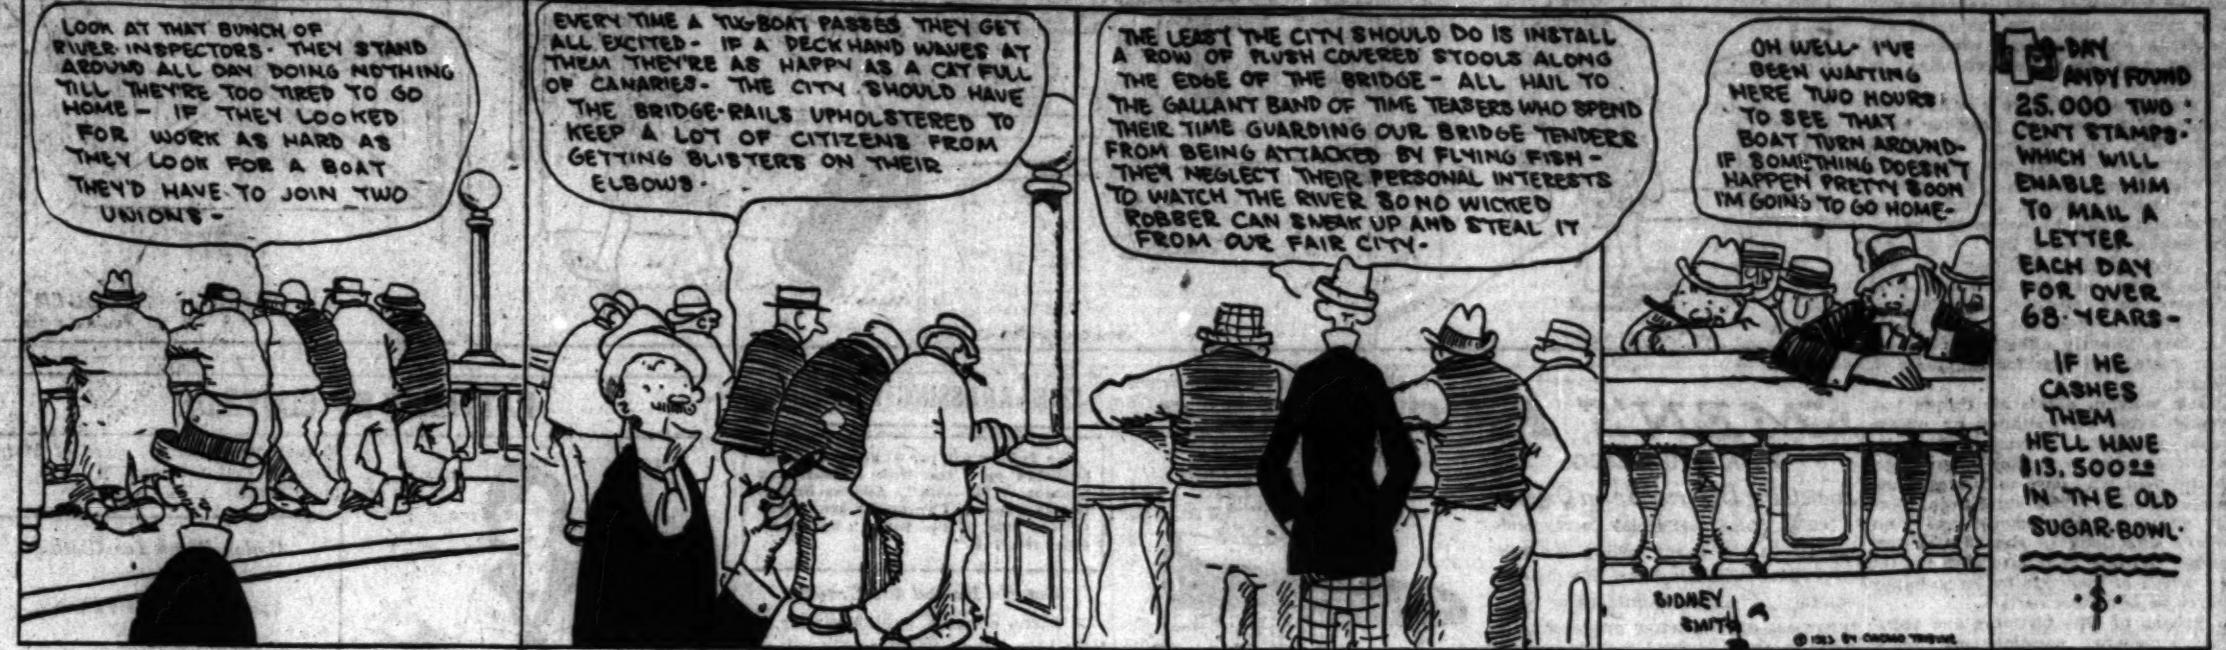

Her vision cleared suddenly, for the man took hold of her arm:

"Let it be," he said. "What's the matter?"

Good Morning!

This is one of the pictures in which Dorothy Dalton convinces one that she can act. It's rather an unusual young actress, with the director caring not at all that the old apple tree and the farmhouse barn sprout right in the Sahara desert; but, said she generously, LOOK what he gives you!

Charles De Roche, imported from France to take Mr. Valentino's place! A dog I suspect of being Strongheart—probably isn't, but a good police dog—at that—which scales tall buildings in a manner to strike jealousy to the soul of any riveter; Margaret Loomis, who can doce; Mr. Kosloff, who can play John Galt; Mr. Huntley, who is now chiefly occupied wondering what they'll stage next at the Playhouse. If the Rohmer piece is taken, Mr. Brady wants its title changed to "The Oriental." It has, he reports, various thrilling allusions, including "two mystic statuettes and a tiger."

This makes something like the 65th play which has been under consideration in Michigan Avenue since the scenes of Jules Eckett Goodman's picture, which he calls "The Eyes of Siva." William A. Brady has bought it for use in this country and has offered to turn it over to production to Messrs. Lester Bryan and John Galt. Mr. Huntley, who is now chiefly occupied wondering what they'll stage next at the Playhouse, if the Rohmer piece is taken, Mr. Brady wants its title changed to "The Oriental." TODAY IS LUCKY FOR THE DECISIVE.

The morning of today is the most auspicious time for entering into new partnerships, signing contracts, and making important arrangements.

The evening should be favorable for banquets and meetings where good feeling and real understanding is aimed at.

Those whose birthday it is have the augury of a successful year for business, but are warned to avoid wrangling in the domestic circle.

Children born on this day should prove steady, reliable, generous, and affectionate, will be somewhat hasty, but have a successful life.

If this is your birthday you are kind, loving, gentle. You are fond of home, very sensitive, and quick to take offense. You are true to those you love, intensely affectionate toward your mate, and look for the same in return.

If a woman, above all things you should avoid an unhappy or unsatisfactory marriage. Loving and gentle in the extreme, you may be an angel to the man who does understand and appreciate you. The stars even go so far as to say you should put your lover's affections to the utmost test before you link your fate with his for the wreck of your life by an unhappy marriage is almost certain.

Persons of this birthday are secretive, somewhat suspicious, fairly domineering, and like to have your own way, which may bring you trouble. You should acquire the faculty of being wisely led. You seem to have an impractical streak which upsets your success in unexpected ways. But if you do fall overboard you don't drown.

Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl of 18 and love a boy two years my senior, but I don't know if he loves me. Some times his actions show me he does care and other times he doesn't notice me at all. I am considered quite good looking and am very popular with my other friends, both boys and girls. Please tell what I shall do. Let him know just what I think you love him just yet. Blanche. You see, he intrigues your interest because you are not sure of him. You try that same principle on him.

July Fourth House Party Has Barbara Dunham as Hostess

Miss Barbara Dunham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wirth Dunham, has invited fourteen young people to a house party over the Fourth of July at the country residence of her parents, Oakdale farm, at Wayne, Ill., where she is spending the summer. Miss Dunham made her debut last winter. Her younger sister, who was graduated from the Walker school at Webster Groves, this year, will enter high school in the fall; the other of the three will be in town again next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wirth Dunham, who are No. 7, which was arranged by Mr. and Mrs. M. Cudahy, received the invite in the poll taken to select the most attractive table during the days of the flower show held Saturday and Sunday at the Gorton school lake Forest under the auspices of the Lake Forest Garden club and the Shore Horticultural society.

The rummage sale will have its home dressmakers' sale of the day tomorrow. Mrs. D. MacCormick will be in charge. There also will be a quantity of fruit on sale.

Barbara F. Affect of Winnie gave a luncheon yesterday at the Yacht club in Highland Park for Mildred Gaven Pepon of Chicago, who is to be married to Kenneth S. of Janesville on Saturday.

HEDGING DROPS WHEAT VALUES TO LOWER LEVEL

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Increased hedging pressure against new crop wheat was largely responsible for a break of 2½@3c from the finish of Monday, and with some selling of spot orders September and December dropped to new low for second time since July 10, within 5¢ of the initial figure on the crop. Short covering made a rally toward the last, but final trades were at net losses of 1¾@2¼c, with July leading. Corn was ½c higher to ¾c lower; oats unchanged to ¾c lower, and rye off ¾c.

Commission house pressure was apparent in wheat from the opening and at no time were prices as high as the finish of the previous day. July 10, in Chicago, brokers showed buying values against purchases to arrive on overnight offers, and it was estimated that 500,000 bu were bought by a southwestern interest in the country. There was more or less pressure from commission houses throughout the day, with the east sending selling orders off and on. Support came largely from shorts and on resting orders.

Weather: Favors Harvest.

Weather conditions in the southwest were ideal for harvesting, and this situation is progressing rapidly, with cotton now under way in Nebraska. The northwest also sent favorable reports due to the recent rains, and the decline in temperatures. There was little in the news from any quarter that was regarded as bullish, and export demand was confined largely to Manitoba. There was some buying of July at Winnipeg by Chicago houses, and it gained slightly on the local market.

While July corn broke early with wheat, it was fair buying, and to any good buying, and closed within ½c of the top, with local traders on the buying side. Basis on spot was firmer on yellow and country offerings continue light. The strength cash position is regarded as against any material decline in the price. In some sections of Iowa farmers are hauling to interior stations and storing the grain. Reports on the new crop are favorable in the main.

Oats in Kansas are ripening prematurely in some sections, with harvesting due to start next week in some sections. The market showed considerable resistance to pressure, with July again acting tight. Basis on spot was firm.

POLITICS SEEN MARKET FACTOR; JUST OLD GAME

BY SCRUTATOR,

Political discussion will occupy a large amount of space in public publications for the next twenty months. It will probably affect the market. Why, no one has ever really explained. Except for the protective tariff and our financial legislation and treaties, the ups and downs of the American political game have had comparatively little effect on our industrial development. One reason is that it has been a game.

Although business men are supposed to be greatly interested in politics, the 100,000 "entrepreneurs" of this country have never acted politically on business lines. Not one man has there been who, in nomination of what is called "business." With the votes of stockholders and units, a business bloc can control a balance of power, but we may never see it, although year by year the trend of legislation has been set up legalized "special privileges" for other groups.

Every mail this writer receives contains notices of one or more governmental actions in court or commission intended to restrain business men and organizations from doing things which are not farm operations are expressly authorized and are encouraged to do.

But there are two well defined tendencies apparent today that might exert a tremendous force in favor of business development and prosperity, if by chance the movements merged into a common effort. Readers of "business literature" who output of corporation press agents and the speeches of rail and industrial magnates are aware that the whole world is uniting in a passionate plea for industrial liberty. Business executives are asking that let alone to be given a chance at management. The incoming analysis from state meddling and taxation is receiving ample notice.

"Give me liberty or give me death" comes along with a similar protest among what politicians like to call "plain people." While business stands against the mass of regulations that hamper it, the unorganized and usually silent masses are beginning to react vigorously against the myriad police regulations that have been piled on their backs. With this polar reaction going on, it is clear that in time even a reaction in certain scientific circles against a lot of the "welfare" stuff that has been jammed down the throats of the American people by meddlesome babbitts.

Probably the two lines of protest will never unite. However, it may not be far off in a column like this, to point out a few instances to be drawn from the co-existence of the two movements.

It is not easy to work up much sympathy for oppressed railroads among business men who want a glass of beer, and are not allowed to buy it. Supreme court decisions upholding the constitutional rights of property will not be a maximum of respect from people familiar day by day with the violations of the constitutional rights of "plain people" by bureaus and jacks in office. Deceit and seizure of private property does not incite respect for property.

People who have seen the business of receivers confiscated cannot be expected to develop the proper amount of indignation against other forms of confiscation. Granting that there is a distinction, it's fine for the average man to get it's skin over his head.

Netcher Building.

H. E. G.—The Netcher Building corporation has been organized to acquire the leasehold and building at 16 North State street, Chicago, occupied by the Boston Store. It is issuing $1,000,000 closed first mortgage bonds at 6 per cent bonds secured by a closed first mortgage on the property of the corporation, given an appraised value of $1,750,000.

The corporation has a lease on the building until 1941, at a rent of $100,000, plus maintenance, insurance and taxes. The annual rental is $51,000 a year, leaving $109,000 available annually for bond interest, principal taxes, etc.

This amount is over twice the maximum interest charge on these bonds. The leasehold on the ground runs to 2002. The corporation agrees to pay no dividends on its capital stock while any of these bonds are outstanding. A sinking fund is provided sufficient to retire at least $50,000 bonds each year commencing July 1, 1934. These bonds are a sound investment.

Brief Answers.

J. L.—Toledo, St. Louis and Western railroad prior to June 1st of 1922 and its 6 per cent equipment notes are suitable investments for a business man's funds.

The company's first 4s of 1950 are more suitable for a business man's spare funds.

J. S. L.—Shelton, Ill.—Chicago Great Western first 4s of 1953 are a somewhat speculative investment. They pay 4 per cent.

America today who insist "private and public" come along with a similar protest among what politicians like to call "plain people." While business stands against the mass of regulations that hamper it, the unorganized and usually silent masses are beginning to react vigorously against the myriad police regulations that have been piled on their backs. ## RAILROAD NOTES

In an address yesterday before the annual meeting of the Illinois Central Association at Rockford, in which he demanded efforts being made by the "progressive group" to secure "wholly unwarranted" reductions of the valuation placed by the Interstate commerce commission upon the railways, W. W. Bushnell, general manager of the Chicago and Northwestern railway, said that "the real difficulty of the railroads is not overvaluation or overcapitalization. It is undercapitalization. What the railroads need and what the public needs for them to have is a system of public encouragement resulting in lower rates, which will invite further capital invested in railway securities," he said. "An increase in the capitalization of the railroads resulting in investment and improvement and same regulation that will make them efficient, increasing economy and in the long run will make such larger reductions of rates than any reduction of the valuation of the railroads is conceivable as possible."

During the first twenty-three days of June the Chicago and Northwestern railway handled 123,250 loaded cars, compared with 106,500 a year ago.

Shippers of Canadian railways yesterday again asked the Canadian government to increase a request for a 10 cent an hour increase in wages and proposals for altered working conditions. The new scale would give mechanics 80 cents an hour, freight car men 75 cents, and helpers 57 cents.

Railroads operating in the Rocky mountain and Pacific coast states were in effect authorized by the Interstate commerce commission to increase by 10 per cent freight rates on coal and cereal products usually classified as "commodities." The increases, which does not affect wheat, oats, anthracite, in shipments from Mississippi valley points to the Rocky mountain-Pacific coast area.

United States District Court Judge Foster Symes confirmed reports which have been current for the last month that Joseph H. Young, president of the Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad, has submitted his resignation to the court. Judge Symes indicated that he probably would delay action on the resignation indefinitely.

Traffic on the Chicago Great Western railroad continues heavy. For the month of May the total loaded cars handled were 59,173, compared with 54,411 a year ago, and for the three weeks of June, 6,279, compared with 5,836 a year ago. Average miles per freight car per day in May were 89.5. June earnings show satisfactory increase for the month. For the three weeks ended June 23 estimated earnings increased $151,141.

There is no substitute for experience

HIS is particularly true of the investment business. No individual investor, no matter how capable, can make all the investigations necessary to insure the safety of his investments. He must rely on the intelligence and experience of some investment banker.

Few realize the careful examination to which conservative investment bankers subject every bond issue before they purchase it. Every corporation from which the Harris Organization purchases bonds is thoroughly investigated by trained lawyers, engineers and financial experts before the bonds are bought. This investigation usually extends over many months and occasionally even over a period of years.

No safeguard which has been developed from our banking and investment experience of more than forty years is overlooked in our endeavor to protect our customers. Evidence that these methods have earned the confidence of the investing public is shown by the fact that our sales of bonds for the past year were over twice those of five years ago, three times those of ten years ago and fourteen times those of twenty years ago.

We shall be pleased to discuss your investment problems with you. It will put you under no obligation and we will give the same careful attention to a small investment as to one of many thousands.

The Company agrees to refund, on application, the present Pennsylvania Four-Mill Tax to holders resident in Pennsylvania. Total authorized issue $2,500,000. The Marine Trust Company of Buffalo, Trustee.

The following information has been summarized by Mr. Howard Kellogg, President of the Company, from his letter to us:

Spencer Kellogg and Sons, Inc. is one of the three largest manufacturers of linseed oil in the United States and does approximately one-third of the entire business in the country. This product is an essential constituent of paint, varnish, linoleum and printers' ink. In addition, the Company manufactures, buys or imports, and sells other vegetable oils. Its customers include practically all the large manufacturers of paints and varnishes, soap and linoleum.

The manufacture of linseed oil by the Kellogg family was started one hundred years ago, and since that time has been actively and successfully continued by the descendants of the founder of the business.

During the seven fiscal years ended September 30, 1922, net earnings after interest and all other charges, but before Federal Taxes, averaged $1,827,000. Maximum annual interest requirements on these Debentures are $150,000. It is estimated that such net earnings for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1923, will be approximately $1,000,000. Since the inception of the present business in 1894, the Company has never shown a net loss in any year.

The Company has paid cash dividends in each year since incorporation, the present rate of 5% per annum having been paid in 1922 on $10,000,000 capital stock.

As shown by the Company's condensed balance sheet as of March 17, 1923, net tangible assets were over $12,800,000, while net current assets were in excess of $6,500,000 with current assets approximately 4½ times current liabilities.

These Debentures, constituting the only funded debt ever issued by this Company, will be the direct obligation of Spencer Kellogg and Sons, Inc., which will covenant not to mortgage its property, nor create any funded debt ranking equally with or ahead of the Debentures; provided in the ordinary course of business it may make loans maturing in not over one year and pledge its current assets as security therefor.

We offer these Debentures for delivery when, as and if issued and received by us, and subject to approval of counsel. Interim Receipts of Dillon, Read & Co. exchangeable for definite Debentures will be deliverable about July 12, 1923.

The New York Times.

New York, June 26.—[Special]—Today's renewed and rather emphatic weakness on the stock exchange again reflected mainly by sales of professional speculators for the decline, offset by no support of consequences, either from professionals or from the "Yes or No" of the committee public. The absence of buying orders except on concessions in price is the really important phenomenon of the market. "Bear speculators" are driving down prices by the more brute force of concentrated selling.

Wall street itself was in a mood today in which it tried to ignore the market affected by the fact that the average "Yes" after recovering nearly six points from the low level of last month, should have fallen below that level, made the mental impression which it always does in Wall street. The fact that some gives of professional advice regarding speculation who had insistently prophesied "a new bull movement" when the reactionary influences were still visible, should not be underestimated have changed.

Stocks and bonds in Wall street as a matter of high importance. No doubt both incidents had to do with the 1 to 2 point declines which were numerous in today's market.

These declines affected all groups of stocks and they occurred without relation to anything in the news. Earnings reported by the railway companies for May, for instance, were easily mentioned in the day's discussions, but there were of nothing encouraging direction.

Bonds pursued much the same course as other financial markets, the same 1 to 2 points in speculative descriptions and less in the case of strictly investment classes. Selling appeared in all the listed bonds, government as well as gilt-edged railway and industrial and speculative material falling sharply. Railroads were the most disturbed, the others, United States government bonds displayed a mixed trend and foreign governments were decidedly irregular.

BOND SURPLUS INCREASED.

The directors of the Franklin Trust and Savings Bank have voted to add the addition of $50,000 capital stock to its surplus, increasing this item from $500,000 to $450,000. This will result in a quarterly dividend of 8 per cent.

BIG COMPANIES FAIL TO DECLARE DIVIDEND BOOST

An echo of conservatism's lusty bark was heard across the financial horizon yesterday when directors of the American Can company declared their regular dividend of 14 per cent and those of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad announced a dividend of 14 per cent quarterly. There was much talk recently that both these corporations would declare either an extra dividend or increase their present rates.

The action indicated that like many other directors, the boards of both companies are waiting events in the future which will insure a long period of increased earnings before committing themselves to a higher dividend rate. On the exchange the stock of the Atchison declined a major fraction yesterday while that of the American Can company closed 1% lower.

At time to raise dividends,

President Story of the Atchison announced that the directors had decided to be guided by a matter of policy in leaving the dividend rate unchanged. He said that earnings were sufficient to make this distribution, but that an increase at this time would not be wise. He said that May earnings were $3,000,000.

Announcement of reductions in carload freight rates of machinery and building materials from Chicago to Omaha to Pacific coast points were made yesterday by two large carriers. Included in a list made public by the Union Pacific system are the following: From Omaha, machinery, $1.82 to $1.74 per hundred pounds. From Chicago, territory, machinery, $1.74 to $1.52. Ceiling, roofing, and siding (iron and steel), $1.87 to $1.50. The new rates are expected to go into effect within sixty days.

Change in Reserve Rules.

Withdrawal of one of the privileges extended to nonmember banks of the national banking system was announced yesterday by Dr. R. Crismering, governor of the board. The privilege withdrawn is that given to member banks during the emergency in 1911 to act as agents in rediscounting for non-members. Only upon application of the non-member bank and upon the approval of the board will the privilege be permitted.

The action has some bearing on the check collection cases in North Carolina in which the Supreme court of the United States upheld a state statute requiring the right of the federal reserve bank of Richmond to enforce per check collection on member banks.

The proposal to organize a mutual insurance company among Illinois banks was approved yesterday by the executive council of the Illinois bankers association in annual session at Rockford.

The action on the question will be taken today before the convention. Members of the committee who argued in behalf of the proposition gave the opinion that stock insurance company rates were too

U. S. TO SEIZE
AND SELL WE FOREIGN SHI

Will Keep the Mon
and Jail Skipper

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENN
(Pictures on back page)
Washington, D. C., June 27.—[cont.]—Foreign ships visiting the coast act by bringing beverage into American waters will be seized and their captains arrested in order where it appears that there is a positive intent to defy the prohibition. This decision was reached at a conference of department officials. While Acting Secretary Gilkeson claimed to say that positive action had been determined upon, he indicated that the treasury department can longer permit violation of the regulations.

He feels that foreign ships, having the purpose of customs officers with regard to seizing liquor broached within the American three miles, are now on notice that more drastic steps will be taken if they continue to bring liquor to American ports in violation of the regulations.

Rum Flood Raises Query.
With more than a dozen ships calling in American ports today and more due, all carrying large cargoes of liquor for passengers on homeward voyages, administration officials raised the question whether the ship lines intend to be caught with a mere test of the law or completely disregarded at the expense of the regulations of the department.

Mr. Gilbert, Assistant Secretary of Internal Revenue Commissioner; Mr. Assistant Prohibition Commissioner Jones, Chief Counsel Britt of the Prohibition unit, and representatives of the state department discussed the other features of the situation. Later, Mr. Gilbert called on Secretary Hughes and acquainted him with the decision to adopt more drastic measures of enforcement if necessary. There is a strong suspicion that the conferences and the facts passed to get out were designed to impress foreign shippers. Secretary Hughes insisted the dry law trouble was due exclusively to the treasury, the diplomatic equilibrium disturbed. It is known the treasury kept from announcing formally its ship seizure policy only by the department's fears of consequences.

What the Law Provides.
If a ship should be seized the owners would be required, under the law, to give a bond of twice the value of the vessel as surety for production at the trial and if violation of the law should be proved the ship, in mitigating circumstances, would be sold at auction and the proceeds paid into the treasury.

One official said that if there is continued disregard of the law the department will have no choice but to seize the vessel because the coast act makes such seizure mandatory. The law provides that "any intoxicating liquors transported or possessed illegally shall be forfeited to the government if an officer, he shall take possession of the vehicle and team or automobile, air or water craft, or any conveyance, and shall arrest any person in charge thereof."

What Happens Next.
Such officer shall at once present the person arrested under provisions of this title in any court having competent jurisdiction; and vehicle or conveyance shall be returned to the owner on execution of a good and valid bond sufficient sureties, in a sum double the value of the property, which shall be approved by said officer, and shall be conditioned to return the property to the custody of said officer on the day of trial to abide the judgment of the court.

The court on conviction of the person so arrested shall order the vessel destroyed, and unless good cause to the contrary, is shown by the owner, shall order a sale at public auction of the property seized, and the proceeds of the sale, after deduction of expenses of keeping the property, shall be paid to the government, and shall pay all liens, according to the laws, and shall pay the balance of the proceeds into the treasury of the United States as miscellaneous revenue."

JAP CAPTAIN PROTESTS.

HONOLULU, June 27.—(By Associated Press)—Capt. K. W. of the Toyo Kisen Kaiwa line of Japanese steamship companies, from which Americans removed 282 quarts of rum yesterday under the "dry ship" of the United States Supreme Court, complained on page 4, sole
